

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XIX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1892.

NO. 96

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—The Senate passed a bill to repeal the Bracken county prohibition law.

—The caucus to nominate a democratic candidate for librarian will be held to night.

—Notwithstanding the constitution says it shall not, the Legislature goes right along passing local bills same as ever. What is a constitution for, anyway?

—Hon. D. B. Edmonston presented an act to amend an act to protect game and small birds by changing the time in which quail may be killed from Oct. 20 to Feb. 1, to Nov. 10 to March 1.

—The House is hammering away on a bill to decrease the legal rate of interest from 6 to 5 per cent., but it had as well let well enough alone. The banks will continue to get all they can and refuse to lend to men who have not honor sufficient to pay what they contract to do.

—The resolution favoring government loans to farmers at 4 per cent., was tumbled. Those who voted against tumbled were Adams, Ayres, Charlton, Cullen, Dornam, Ferguson, Finn, Kirk, O'Meara, Pettit, Philpot, Porter, Ryan, Stewart, Thomas (J. R.) and Tinsley. The bill was offered simply to make certain members, who claimed to be democrats, go on record.

—Mr. Myers has presented a bill to regulate the employment of females and minors. It provides that no child under 13 shall be engaged by any firm or corporation and none under 15 during school hours, unless the rudiments of an education have already been obtained. No minor of 18 or less and no female under 21 shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment more than 60 hours a week and no persons of these ages shall be employed where liquors are sold. The penalties are very severe and if passed the act will go into immediate effect.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The haste with which little Chili was pressed by our government calls to mind the reply of the old darkey, who in the winter of 1856-7, when the thermometer was eight degrees below zero, started to the woods with an axe under his arm and a chunk of fire in his hand, his head drawn down under the collar of his coat. He was asked, "Hello Uncle, what do you want with fire this hot day?" To which he replied: "Oh, massa, I jes wants to raise a little smoke in de woods to drive off de musketeers."

—The bill regulating elections in Kentucky, proposed in the Legislature, requires the polls to be opened at 7 A. M. and closed at 4 P. M. The present law requires them to be opened at 6 A. M. and closed at 7 P. M. and this is right. The time allowed under the existing law is none too long, while the proposed change would shorten it four hours, which would not give sufficient time in which to cast the vote in many of the larger precincts.

—A bill has been introduced in the Legislature prescribing the manner in which primary elections are to be held. The new constitution directs that not more than one election each year shall be held in this State, &c., and this shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. This, of course, relates to all elections that are to take place under the provisions of the constitution or the laws made in pursuance thereof. It is manifest that no such thing as a "primary election" was ever considered as a proper subject of legislative enactment by the framers of the constitution, and why the law makers should be inclined to meddle with things that are outside of their jurisdiction is a source of wonder to many who have read the bill. Why not prescribe rules for the management of conventions and the machinery by which politics generally shall be operated? It would seem to be the proper thing to do to let political parties manage things in their own way in a free country and if the people allow the managers and bosses to do wrong and misrepresent public sentiment, they have no one to blame except themselves. No one is compelled to take part in a primary election and no one is, or ever should be, deprived of the right to vote for whom he pleases, whether he be the nominee of a party or a private citizen, who has not even asked for an office. There is nothing in the constitution of the United States, or of any of the States of the Union, requiring the formation of political parties, and the less legislation there is upon subjects about which the people are free to act as they choose, the better it will be for all concerned.

—For fear of another mob Dr. Massie and John Sanders, convicted of murder, and John Costigan, convicted of manslaughter, have been removed from the Owen county jail to Frankfort.

—There is going to be trouble and a heap of it in New York. Democrats opposed to the early convention, called in the interest of Hill, have called a mass meeting to be held Feb. 11, to protest against the holding of the State convention Feb. 22, the date fixed by the State committee.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Rev. W. L. Williams is still confined to his room and improves very slowly.

—Is it a fact that that company of Lincoln volunteers will not be called on to aid in punning Chili?

—"Scab" has made its appearance to a rather alarming extent in several West End flocks and some owners have been compelled to "dip" their sheep.

—Misses Alice and Dollie Cabbell are again at home, their visit to Lebanon having been shortened by illness of their mother. Their brother accompanied them.

—Miss Kittie Bogie's school will close next Friday, without the usual parade of commencement exercises, to which the last third of a session is too often almost entirely devoted to rehearsals.

—Should our Legislature see fit to ordain free travel over turnpikes on Sunday would it not be well to specify the only circumstances under which the impious public shall hitch up and drive on that day?

—Mrs. Anna D. VanArsdell, of Harrodsburg, and Miss Mattie Davis, one of Mercer's little beauties, were here last week visiting relatives and proposed spending a few days in Stanford before returning home.

—The last week has been a destructive one to many fields of wheat and some sowers are anxious to sell their prospects for the seed they used. Plowing is being rushed by a few farmers on the slopes that have thawed out, but the north slopes and strips that are shaded forbid it yet.

—Agents of the hedge fence company, whose duties are in Garrard, are taking orders in this section and occasionally find patrons within the shadow of well-timbered knobs, who are almost tempted to remove new post and railing to give place to the coming fence.

—Our horse-men were gladdened by the visit last week of a peripatetic veterinarian, who had assured cure for curbs and similar ailments, no cure no pay, and only $20 for his formula. He didn't find it necessary to buy a larger grip to carry away the funds that he "picked up" here.

—Great are the discoveries of the Cincinnati Enquirer. Week before last it told us of a fellow who had set up a lizzard factory in his bread-basket; last week it tells us of an 85-year-old damsel whose second sight enables her to put in the time most enjoyably reading the Enquirer while cutting a full set of new teeth. Next!

—A slight misapprehension led a couple of our good citizens into a brief but lively "scrap" a few evenings since, but prompt interposition of friends and explanations "calmed the turbulent waters" and again we have peace. Nevertheless another small tribute of toll to Judge Cannitz's mill, which like the merchant mill, has done little grinding since the holidays.

—Our mill resumed work last Thursday, after a month's suspension for various good reasons, and at sunset Saturday the crowd awaiting their turns for a turn was suggestive of a jam at the polls on election day. Davis VanArsdell, of Mercer, has charge of the engine-room, and proposes to whoop things up till this country is again well supplied with good biscuits and hoe-cakes.

—Sergeant Eastham Tarrant, of the famous First Kentucky Cavalry, was here Saturday on the war path, gathering data for his history of that regiment, to which labor of love he is now devoting all his time. Prof. Tarrant is an accomplished, graceful writer and the public is promised a book of thrilling incidents, so entertainingly written as to give it prominence in a catalogue of the best "remembrances" of our late war.

—Mrs. Leah Woodson died at her home on Frye's Creek Saturday morning last, after a protracted spell of bronchitis, throughout which she suffered greatly, and found no ease except in a sitting posture, her head prone on a pyramid of pillows. From the beginning of her attack she despaired of recovery and welcomed death with cheerful, christian resignation. A few moments before she expired, with outstretched hands she exclaimed, "I am coming! Lay me down, I'm going to sleep," was her last request. "Yes, asleep in Jesus!" was her last utterance, in response to her attendant's assent, "You're going to sleep." Eighty-one years of age, she survived her husband and all of her five children except one, Mrs. Kate Snow, whose illness prevented her presence at her mother's bedside. "A good woman has gone to her reward" whose unvarying kindness to the poor about her will ever keep her name a sweet memory to all who knew her.

—Mrs. J. I. VanArsdell, who was Miss Bettie Chelf, died at Harrodsburg. She was the third wife of Mr. VanArsdell, who is not yet 40 years old.

—Talton Hall, the noted desperado, has been convicted of murder in the first degree in Wise county, Va. His friends from Kentucky gathered around to release him, but the leader was placed in jail. Hall will be taken to Lynchburg for safety.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Mr. Mat Holman has a new heir at his house.

—The sale of Mrs. M. A. Garnett, deceased, will be on Wednesday, Feb. 3.

—Miss Ora Wilmore, of Nicholasville, was visiting her mother, Mrs. Capt. Dillon.

—Uncle Arch Carson has had a sketch of his life printed to distribute among his friends and relatives. There is only one Uncle Arch in existence.

—The ladies of the Baptist church are soon to give an entertainment in the way of a lunch party. Will give date as soon as all the arrangements are completed.

—Mr. James Yantis shipped two cars of mules to Greensboro, N. C., Monday. Bastin & Collier have sold their knob farm advertised in the INTERIOR JOURNAL, to Richard A. Smith.

—We hope everybody will be looking out for the ground hog, the little imp that some thinks brings the bad weather, but we are inclined to think the ground hog don't have much influence in that direction.

—Mr. John McGee and family and Mr. Sam McGee leave for Sherman, Texas, on Tuesday, whether they go to seek their future home. We wish them success.

—Mr. J. F. Holman has taken the road for a Baltimore boot and shoe house. Mr. S. I. Fish has moved into the house occupied by Mr. W. A. Carson, while Mr. Carson has moved into the house lately occupied by W. T. Saunders. Mr. R. S. Haines, of Baltimore, Md., has taken the place of Mr. Bettis at the depot. Mr. Bettis has gone to Middleboro. Mr. George Lee James, Gallatin Bobbitt and Campbell Alexander have returned from Florida. None of them are in good health and Mr. James is confined to his bed with chills and fever. It seems that the southern climate does not agree with parties from here. Mrs. T. A. Gresham, of Stanford, was up visiting relatives Friday. Miss Sabra Hays is visiting Mrs. J. F. Holman and will remain with her during her husband's absence.

—Mr. R. L. Davis will open a school some time this month in the house of Mr. Collier on the pike near Bastin & Collier's store. We are glad to see Mrs. Sue Holmes out again after her severe and lengthy sickness. Mrs. M. A. Ross is quite ill at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. A. H. Bastin. Mr. H. B. Hansford has gone to Corbin on business for Mr. R. L. Collier.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—John Lewis died in the Piney Wood district Friday; burial Saturday.

—Col. Dick Bowling, of Middleboro, was on a short visit to this place Sunday.

—T. B. Thompson, an old friend of the writer, formerly of Letcher county, but now a prominent merchant of Virginia, is visiting friends here.

—A north bound freight train jumped the track at Pittsburg Sunday, killing several cattle in a 2-car-load lot for a shipper from Claiborne county, Tenn. The cars were backed to this place and the dead removed.

—The night railroad office has, as far as an operator is concerned, been closed and hereafter there will be no night messages. A man will be furnished by the railroad company to sell tickets and take mail on and off. M. W. Tinch has been the night man here for some time and his many friends will regret to lose him.

—Mrs. Mary Hugi, mother of Fred Hugi, died last Friday from the effects of grip, aged 67, and was buried on Cemetery Hill Sunday afternoon. Appropriate ceremonies by Rev. A. Denny, of the German or Swiss church here, in the language of their nationality. A large number of Swiss and Americans followed the remains to the grave.

—Four horse thieves were killed in Montana in an encounter with a posse of citizens.

—The alleged discovery of silver ore in the Jackpot claim, at Creede, Col., has caused a regular Black Hill stampede in that direction.

—Representative Davis, of Kansas, wants a public building in every town of 3,000 population, to be paid for by issuing treasury notes not exceeding $100,000,000 a year.

—Wm. Hesse, caught stealing a pair of pantaloons from a store in Louisville, in which he had formerly worked, drew a knife and nearly severed his head from his body and died almost instantly.

—Franz and Rosalie Schneider, husband and wife, have been sentenced to hang at Vienna for a series of crimes almost without a parallel. The woman induced eight young girls to her house and after assisting her husband to ravish them helped him to kill them.

—The Turner-Parton feud has caused another double killing in Bell county. The Parton faction made an attack on the Turner gang's headquarters to avenge the murder of Manuel Parton and to arrest Turner if possible, but the latter's followers shot down Lee Davis and Will Jones, members of the attacking faction.

The Business Manager at Barbourville.

At the invitation of my good friend, Mr. Lewis D. Simpson, I made a trip to Barbourville, Friday, for the purpose of enlarging the INTERIOR JOURNAL list at that place and from the courteous treatment and liberal patronage I received, I felt that it was truly good to be there and it was with no slight degree of reluctance that I left the good capital of Knox.

I like Barbourville because it is inhabited by a splendid class of people who are as hospitable as can be found anywhere and who really seem to take pleasure in welcoming the stranger within their gates. 'Tis true that the town is not as lively as it once promised to be, yet it is a substantial business place and there are many who are glad that the boom did not get an entire hold on it. Real estate is valuable and what has changed hands recently has brought fair prices. Unlike Middleboro and Pineville, Barbourville has hardly a vacant house and for a town of its size it is wonderfully well built up.

With the assistance of Mr. Simpson, to whom I have referred above, I succeeded in adding a score or more subscribers to the "cheapest and best" in quite a short while and better than that, I dropped a goodly number of shining shekels in my trousers' pockets that I may probably find use for ere "Winter's chilly breeze" has left us.

Barbourville's situation has been of much advantage to her. Besides being a lovely location for a town it is surrounded partly by fine farming lands, while not far distant are mountains that literally teem with minerals. Then, too, the Cumberland River runs by and its waters could be easily used for power purposes.

The Queen City, as Barbourville is known, is to have another newspaper. Mr. Lewis D. Simpson, an elegant young man, thoroughly fitted for the business, will be the editor and the first issue will appear on Feb. 15th. It will be known as the Barbourville Herald and will be issued weekly.

It possibly does not become a youth who has so recently joined the list of Benedict to speak of the fair sex, but I cannot resist mentioning the fact that the Queen City is entitled to the cake, bakery and all for pretty girls. The blue grass towns do not dare boast of handsomer young ladies than Misses Tinsley, Costello, Dishman, et al and it does one good to even catch a glimpse of such beauties.

Mr. S. B. Dishman, a prominent democrat of this place, is an aspirant for the honor of delegate to the national convention. A gentleman of unswerving democracy, Mr. Dishman would fill the office with credit both to himself and his party.

Corbin, where the change of cars is made for Barbourville, is doing herself proud in the way of building. Only a year or so ago the present site was a dense forest, but now the place presents the appearance of quite a city. The carpenter's hammer is heard from early morn till nightfall and the result is a hundred or more houses are either just completed or under rapid construction. The L & N. is building an immense round-house there, which is evidence of the fact that that company has faith in the place. Keep your eye on Corbin.

Knox and the adjoining counties are noted for the peculiarity of the names given the various creeks in their borders. For instance, there is Fighting Creek, Stinking Creek, Hell for Certain Creek and many others bearing such unusual names. Why they were thus named no one seems to know, but it is generally conceded that at least Fighting Creek and Hell for Certain are not inappropriately christened.

It is claimed that a short while after the discovery of America a couple of French gentlemen came through that section near where Fighting Creek takes its head and were murdered by the Indians. They each bore large quantities of money of which the Indians grew superstitious and which they later on buried. Notwithstanding this happened two or three hundred years ago, I was reliably informed that up to the present day there are those who continually search for the money and who have spent a good portion of their lives in search of it.

—C. A. Shelton has been appointed postmaster at Cabbell, Wayne county, and B. B. Hayes at Denmark, Russell county.

—The rescued crew of the tug Edwin H. Webster went 44 hours with scarcely anything to eat and when taken off their sinking vessel their hands and feet were frozen.

—In Washington Howard Schneider shot his wife and killed her younger brother, Frank Hamlick, as they were coming home from church. The wife had refused to live with her husband.

—The democrats of the House will attack the iniquities of the McKinley tariff by separate bills, aimed at the most objectionable features of the law. This course was decided upon at a meeting of the democratic members of the Ways and Means committee.

OUR BILLY BRECKINRIDGE may not be able to see farther into a mill-stone than some of the other distinguished members of Congress, but when he thinks he sees a fraud is being perpetrated, he has the courage to say so, no matter if the perpetrator does hold the highest office in the land. When he saw what a transparent attempt Mr. Harrison was making to secure votes, in his fiery message on the Chilian business, he demanded at once that the president be requested to give all the correspondence in the matter, stating dates of receipt, etc. He wanted the body to adopt his resolution without the usual reference to the committee, but Mr. Blount, the chairman of the committee on Foreign Affairs, stood pat on his pastern joints and declared that such a step would be almost an insult to him and the other members composing his committee. The resolution was finally referred, after much debate, but the unwisdom of it is apparent now as it was then to everybody acquainted with Mr. Harrison's methods. The first campaign document was "fired at Congress Monday, and Thursday Mr. Harrison, after waiting to get all the applause he could from the gallery gods, sends another message, in which he admits that he was in receipt of Chili's apology at the time he sent his first message to Congress; but it was in a language he couldn't read and its translation was not given him till late in the evening. There was no special reason for haste in the matter, except Mr. Harrison did not want to lose his stump speech, after he had labored so hard on it. The whole thing shows the insincerity and desire for vain glory of Mr. Harrison and puts him into such a ridiculous attitude as will make the entire nation blush with shame for such a president, and if his party has any respect for itself this business should make his renomination an impossibility.

To the average legislator the giving up of his free pass is like pulling his eye teeth and he lays awake at night thinking how he can get around the constitutional inhibition. He can't use them and hold his office, that is evident, but the new fundamental law, which is fearfully and wonderfully made, places no restrictions as to the families of legislators and other officers. Consequently the law-maker, who wants to see his family, realizes that he cannot go to them, without going down in his pocket after the wherewithal, but they can come to him on the coveted piece of pasteboard that is good for a free ride. It is charged that Mr. Kramer, of Louisville, the chairman of the committee on railroads in the House, has a book of these passes in blank that he kindly issues to the members who ask for them. Mr. Kramer denies the book part, but confesses that he had passes for his family and others to come to Frankfort. This gentleman, it will be recollected, got the chairmanship of this committee in reward for his vote, and this incident alone proves the correctness of what the Louisville Times said of the unfitness of the appointment at the time.

The joint committee appointed to examine the Eddyville penitentiary reports against its conversion into a house of reform because it is too large, out of the way and unsuitable, and that it is not practical now for the State to provide a house of reform. It is the opinion of the committee that the prison is an elephant of large proportions and that its building was not only a mistake, but a job of the worst kind. The Frankfort penitentiary will probably be enlarged for the benefit of the ever increasing army of convicts, and the Eddyville fraud be permitted to quietly die.

The newspaper business is more generally overdone in Kentucky than in any other State of equal population and resources, and it is only a question of time when there must be a thinning out in journalistic fields.—Lexington Leader. Bro. Roberts is eminently correct, but men who want to go into the newspaper business seem to take no thought of the morrow. Newspapers are starting up almost weekly and many of the starters find sooner than they can realize that Man's a vapor, full of woes, Starts a paper, up he goes.

ALREADY there are two candidates for democratic elector in this district.—J. Mort Rothwell, of Garrard, and Col. Nat. Gaither, of Mercer. In his card of announcement Mr. Rothwell says: "If I am chosen, I promise to be a most zealous and faithful worker in the democratic ranks and will devote my whole time to the cause and will speak in every county of the district or anywhere I am sent."

The Jessamine Journal insinuates that certain semi-weeklies get their inspiration from the Louisville Times. The Hopkinsville Kentuckian, the Danville Advocate and the Bourbon News ought to resent this base imputation by saying that the source is worthy and that any inspiration is better than its entire absence, for which the Journal has been noted since the retirement of Col. McCarty.

Two bills at least have been introduced in the Legislature that ought to become laws. One is to increase the amount constituting larceny to $30 and the other is to require juries in criminal cases to decide simply whether the accused is guilty or not and then let the judge fix the punishment according to the law and the facts. This latter course prevails in the U. S. courts and in those of many of the States, where hung juries are very rare, while under our system it is almost the exception for the juries to agree in an important case. The other law would do much to stem the penitentiary tide, which makes new institutions and enlargements continually necessary. If the Legislature will pass these two bills we believe the people will look with charity on many of their other acts of omission and commission.

Hon. D. G. Colson says he will be a candidate for Congress in the bloody 11th and that he will likely be opposed by Dr. Nell, Col. Silas Adams, Frank Finley and John Wilson, though he has heard that the latter is thinking of retiring from public life. Mr. Colson is a bright young man and a clever one, and we should like to see him gratify a worthy ambition, but we would advise him not to lay the flattering unction to the soul that John Wilson will not meet him at Philippi. John Henry isn't pretty, neither is he a greater statesman than others of the candidates named, but when it comes to working the wires and manipulating conventions, he takes not only the cake, but the whole bakery.

Col. C. E. SEARS withdraws from the editorial management of the Louisville Post in the following curt lines: "For reasons which are satisfactory to the owners of The Post and to myself, my relations with the paper are hereby dissolved." There is no explanation of the matter, but it is thought that the directory had an idea that the colonel was entirely too rapid to be permitted to run longer at large. He is a fine writer and somewhat of a genius, but his whole nature seems to have been warped by nursing an unexplained and venomous hatred of Henry Watterson and the Courier-Journal.

PRIVATE ALLEN, of Mississippi, made one of the most humorous speeches ever listened to in Congress, in support of his resolution to increase the Committee on Foreign Affairs from 13 to 75. He claimed that the members were entirely too overworked and after having some fun at their expense he gave the president a few pointers on the code of honor, which requires that a person who sends a challenge or an ultimatum should at least wait for an answer from the person challenged. The speech was full of humor and sarcasm and took the House by storm.

Over 200 representative colored men met at Frankfort to petition and remonstrate with the legislative committee to report unfavorably on the bills to require railroads to furnish separate cars for their race, and they acted in such a manner as to create a feeling in their behalf. We are with our colored friends in this fight. There is no crying need for such a law as experience has shown that as a general thing the negro is a much better behaved passenger than the white hoodlums who are permitted to run at large in any car they see fit.

The Louisville Times, whose editor is remarkable for his terseness and aptness of expression, tells the whole tale in these few lines: Samson Hill may pull down the pillars of the democratic temple in which Cleveland is enshrined, but he himself will be found in the ruins. If the purpose of that meeting of Cleveland democrats in New York city last night is carried out, when the Chicago convention meets neither Hill nor Cleveland will be in it.

The Newport Journal, in giving a list of available presidential tickets names Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, as vice-president on one of them. We object for the reason that Mr. Woodson does not possess an ambition with a sliding scale. It would be too great a come down to succeed Morton, after having been president of that greatest of all bodies, the Kentucky Press Association.

It is stated that the preparation for the war, which the administration seemed determined to thrust on Chili whether she apologized or not, cost $2,000,000, most of which goes for naught. But what would Harrison care for the nation's money or the lives of the nation's defenders so they procured him a renomination and election?

The Lexington Press Association recommends May 10, 11 and 12 for the meeting of the Kentucky Press Association, with a big programme, and suggests that the democratic State convention be also held there that week. Pretty good idea, if Lexington can accommodate such a crowd.

The president has notified Chili that everything is satisfactory and peace reigns supreme again. But Mr. Harrison's feelings were sore after kicking "the dead horse" and tells Lige privately that he sees where they are right when they say he made an ass of himself.

MURAT HALSTEAD is back from his European tour and with a two-months' accumulation of venom is firing it at the helpless readers of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

The republican committee has fixed upon Louisville as the place and March 30th as the day for the meeting and the State Convention to send delegates to National Convention. All persons without regard to past party affiliations, who endorse the principles of the republican party, are invited to unite under this call. The basis of representation shall be one delegate for every 100 votes, which gives Lincoln 13, and they are to be chosen on the call of the county committee. Each congressional district will be entitled to two delegates and two alternate delegates to the National Convention, to which will be added four from the State at large, of whom Col. W. O. Bradley will certainly be one.

The whipping-post bill is up again, as usual, in the Legislature. We would like to see it become a law, but as there is no probability of it, and knowing that a majority of the record makers would not be convinced of its necessity, tho' one rose from the dead, it is useless to argue in its favor.

—At Honey Brook, Pa., dynamite exploded in a shanty where 20 Hungarian miners were eating dinner. Two were killed, eight fatally injured, two are missing and the others are more or less hurt.

—The police and socialists at Chelsea had something of a Chicago riot Sunday. A woman who insisted on talking was arrested; a mob attempted to rescue her and the reserve force had to be called to save the police.

—Oak Grove, the home and stock farm of M. T. Threlkeld, near Harrodsburg, was destroyed by fire. Loss $5,000; insured for $3,000 in the Queen. Mr. Threlkeld is the owner of that good campaigner, Emma T., 2:24.

—Judge Boyd, of the 15th judicial circuit, is here on legal business. The rumor that he is to resign his office is groundless, but that he will not run again in the famous Barbourville district is well known among his intimate friends.—Frankfort cor. Times.

—Mr. P. Kipp, proprietor of the Old Hickory Distillery, has sold to Messrs. Dant & Carter, of Louisville, 6,300 barrels of whisky, 2,800 of the 1891 crop and 3,500 to be made this season. The entire amount paid is something like $100,000.—Anderson News.

—John Boyd, a negro, has been arrested for wrecking a passenger train of the Western railway of North Carolina, by which 20 people were killed. He made a confession to a detective before being arrested, and money and jewelry which he secured from the dead have been recovered. A reward of $10,000 was offered by the railroad company.

—Chili's surrender may be briefly analyzed as follows: She withdraws and apologizes for the Malta letter; she waives the request for Egan's recall; she deeply deprecates the Baltimore affair, expresses warm willingness to make any and every reparation that is "just" and offers to leave it to either our Supreme Court or outside arbitration to determine what is just. It is not easy to see how she could further go.

"LOCUST GROVE"

STOCK FARM

FOR SALE.

The finest Farm and richest soil in Lincoln county, comprising 400 acres of Blue-Grass Land, situated within two miles of Stanford, the county seat of Lincoln. Fronted by the Shelby City turnpike and accessible to the Stanford and Danville turnpike. This is one of the best Stock Farms in the Blue-Grass section and is a high standard of improvement. Abundance of water for all purposes. Soil is fertile and is suitable for the growing of hemp, tobacco, corn and wheat. The land is so located so that it can be divided and two fine Farms made. The improvements are a large and commodious dwelling, a convenient stock barn, &c., the best of fruit of all kinds, and a large quantity of stock. E. H. JONES, Stanford, Ky. O. V. RILEY, Pineville.

H. T. BUSH,

REAL ESTATE AGENT,

Stanford, Ky.

Have quite a number of FARMS for sale of the very best Blue-Grass Land in Lincoln county. These Farms are all well improved and good rich lands, running in size from 50 to 500 Acres. Considering their locality, their richness and fertility of soil, the convenience of turnpikes and railroads that bring markets right to our door, they are cheaper than the Lands of any other county in the State. There is scarcely a Farm in the county over 5 miles from a depot.

The county is checked with turnpikes running in every direction. There is not a public road in the county that is not a turnpike. We have the Knoxville Branch of the L. & N. R. R. dividing the county from East to West and the C. & E. R. R. from North to South; the K. & C. R. R. from this place to Cincinnati, crossing the C. & O. at Winchester, giving full access to the markets of the whole world. Besides, we have three large Flour Mills in the county, that give us a market for all our grain right at home; and the development of the mountain regions of Eastern and South-eastern Kentucky by railroads and the outlet South by railroads has created such a demand for all kinds of cereals and provisions that we can scarcely retain enough for home consumption.

The people are prosperous, generous and kind, believing in Christianity and education. There is not a neighborhood in the county but has a good church and school-house.

Stanford, the county seat of Lincoln, is a prosperous little city of about 2,500 inhabitants and is the great doorway from the North and North-east South and from the Northwest to Southeast, and standing as it does going right into the bosom of the undeveloped mountains of Southeastern Kentucky backed up by the whole Blue-Grass region of the State with railroads running through it to all points of the compass, makes it naturally one of the best located towns in the South, for manufactures and other enterprises of magnitude. Water Works are now being agitated and right about the town about three-fourths of a mile there could be erected Water Works with very little cost that would supply a city of 150,000 inhabitants with the purest and best water in the world. Our little city has been newly rebuilt in the last few years and its business houses and residences will compare with larger cities of greater pretensions. Our merchants and tradesmen are all prosperous and doing well. We have two banks with a capital stock of $500,000 that are prosperous and in a good condition.

We have splendid schools. We have a Female College, a large brick building, with over 100 pupils in attendance and under the principalship of Prof. J. M. Hubbard, is in a flourishing condition. We also have a Seminary that is a good school, with Prof. B. F. Blakenan at its head. We have one of the best Public School buildings in this section of the State, with over 100 pupils in attendance, and with other good private schools, you see our school facilities are excellent.

We have elegant chateaux, representing every denomination, with a full corps of ministers of fine class talent and are doing a better business than any class of men in the city. I have tried to make this statement as facts, without any exaggeration or coloring, as those who know will bear me out, and those who wish to see pleasant homes at low prices, and locate among good people with all the best surroundings, would do well to call and see me before purchasing elsewhere.

The Lancaster young ladies will give a leap year party on the evening of the 4th and the belles of Harrodsburg will treat the young men similarly on the evening following. Danville has already had one. Stanford may be slow in the matter, but she'll get there all the same, we wager.

The report of Supt. Argo, of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, Danville, shows that the total number of pupils received since its foundation in 1826 is 1,025. The average attendance last year was 138. The institution has a permanent fund of $12,100 and a library fund of $2,000. The cost of each pupil is about $225 a year.

The Record shows in what a fine condition Garrard is financially in the following: Squire W. H. Kinnaird, treasurer of the sinking fund of Garrard county, reports outstanding 16 bonds of $1,000 each, and cash and cash notes, including amount in the hands of the sheriff to pay same, about $14,500, leaving a debt of about $1,500, to be provided for out of this year's levy. The county treasurer reports $400 in his hands.

It was at first reported that Capt. Gaines Craig had left no will, but such was not the case. A paper bearing his signature has been found, in which he divides his property pretty evenly between his natural heirs, and appoints his nephew, Harvey Helm, Esq., of Pineville, executor. It will be probated next Monday, when we shall give the details more fully. The estate is valued at about $40,000.

Gov. JAMES G. GIVENS, with a son of Murphy, the temperance lecturer, and F. F. Needham, a hotel man of Vincennes, has bought a noted mineral spring, sanitarium and bath house in Indiana, erected in the last 18 months at a cost of $50,000. The place is already noted as a winter and summer health resort. It is rumored that the National Surgical Institute, of Indianapolis, will remove to the place.

Not long ago our clever county clerk, Mr. G. B. Cooper, had the misfortune to collide with an open door while groping in the darkness at his home, and the result was an ugly gash on his nose. Hardly had the wound healed when on Saturday night, while he was enjoying nature's sweet repose, a rat happened by and attempted to take a slice out of that badly-used-up portion of his physiognomy. Mr. Cooper was aroused, of course, but not until the rat's sharp teeth had pierced his nose and blood was flowing from it copiously. The gentleman is very desirous of obtaining a nose protector and if there is such a thing invented he would appreciate greatly information leading to the securing of one.

BORN to the wife of Dr. R. R. Hoarigan, who was Miss Maude Rapley, a fine boy. The child, mother and grandfather, Mr. H. C. Rapley, are all doing well.

The Advocate says that additional honors have been thrust on Geo. L. Willis, the well-known correspondent, by a Boyle county man naming his stallion for him.

THERE are various and sundry rumors about new candidates, but as they would no doubt get us to announce them if such were the case, we take it for granted that there is more talk than reality.

The Model Minstrels have certainly a model band. They made the best parade and the finest music ever given by a similar organization in Stanford. The streets were lined with people and all enjoyed it.

D. R. CARPENTER, Superintendent of Agents, tells us that Judge J. A. Lytle had a policy in the Etwa Life for $6,000 that he let lapse after making six payments, but that his estate will receive about $2,400 from the company.

KILLED.—A special from Mr. J. T. Guthrie, at Elgin, Tenn., to this paper says: While Mrs. Franklin Rose was attempting to run across the track in front of a train at this place, she was struck by the engine and instantly killed. She leaves a husband and two little children.

JUDGE MORROW has granted a new trial in the case in which a Somerset man sued a pretty young lady for the precepts he gave her and got a verdict for them. The judge doubtless believes that when a man gives a girl rings and other things it must be for keeps, and we are with him.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—There were 15,803 marriage licenses issued in Kentucky last year, and 31,606 souls were either made very happy or very miserable.

—The petition of Richard Ten Broeck, the once noted turman, for divorce from his wife, Mary C. Ten Broeck, has been denied in California.

—Mr. R. Lee McMillan, of Ackworth, Ga., and Miss Maria Knox, of this county, were married Wednesday morning at the residence of Mr. George Tarkington, the brother-in-law of the bride.—Advocate.

—Mr. Howard Curry, of Lexington, will wed Miss Elizabeth Sage, at Danville, Feb. 8th. It will be an apple blossom wedding—pink and white—eight bridesmaids, four in pink faille, carrying white buds, and four in white carrying pink buds. The maid of honor, Miss Alice Sage, sister of the bride, will be gowned in pure white.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach at Mt. Xenia next Sunday afternoon at 3 P. M.

—Dr. Guerrant's nine-days meeting at Shelbyville brought 11 souls into the fold.

—Dr. Basil Manley, one of the founders of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, is dead.

—Rev. J. M. Evans, of Maysville, is engaged in a big revival meeting at Lewisburg, W. Va., Presbyterian church. There had been 62 conversions at last accounts.—Craddock.

—The Mt. Sterling Sentinel says that 19 have so far professed religion in the protracted meeting being held there by Ed. Keene, a minister of the Christian church from Covington.

—Rev. W. C. Cooper, of Lexington, was elected to succeed the late Rev. H. H. Kavanaugh as chaplain of the penitentiary. He is of the Presbyterian faith and is well known as an evangelist.

—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the noted Baptist divine, died Sunday in France, where he had gone for his health, which had been bad for several years. He was a splendid orator and stood at the top in the religious world.

—Rev. J. J. Jones, of the Methodist church at Wheeling, has been deposed, because he took a pronounced position in favor of dancing and other amusements at church socials. Most of the young people followed him and yesterday he organized a new church.

—Bro. Joe Hopper has been assisting Rev. C. H. Thompson for over ten days in a series of meetings at Lexington at the Maxwell street Presbyterian church. Thirty persons have already united with the church and several others will be received by letter within the coming week. Bro. Joe was sent on Saturday last to assist Rev. A. D. Tadlock in a meeting at Union, Boone county. We hope the Lord will continue to bless him in his work.

"Si Plunkard" (a Yankee comedy) which appears at Walton's Opera House Feb. 12, is said to be a very amusing performance, being a genuine comedy. There is just enough plot to lend interest and tell a pretty story. The comedy is of a refined nature and does not depend on the use of brick-bats, stuffed clubs and stale minstrel jokes to amuse.

Mr. J. C. Lewis, who assumes the title role, has a very peculiar, droll dialect, and should make a good Si. Many pleasing specialties are introduced. Realism is seen in the shape of a real threshing machine in full operation on the stage. The band and orchestra that is carried by Mr. Lewis is considered the finest with any traveling company.

Fine Land For Sale.

Having more land than I can manage at my age and the present system of labor, I have determined to sell at a bargain my farm of five hundred and thirty (530) acres, on the Stanford and Danville pike and in seven miles of Lancaster and less than eight miles of the three county seats of rich blue-grass counties.

I think this one of the best stock farms in Central Kentucky, taking into consideration beauty, convenience, water, soil, building material, fencing, etc., etc. All of the land is in grass, except about 30 acres of fresh land for corn and so acres in wheat, with timothy sown with it, but enough, as a purchaser would see it before buying. The title is perfect, being handed down from ancestors from the days of the Indians. Also a detached tract of 15 acres, 1 mile from the pike, and 150 acres of extra knob land, which includes Mison's Gap.
